Recent Comments chris n-samp 12/26/14 at 10:10 pm as i said earlier in this post, the game is fine, but take into account the ebay for it only has it for 160+ on its auction list. from what i gathered people are basically paying too much for a hardly used game at this point. all i did was snag it at 60 for about 30-40. think about it before you bid!!!!!!Q: Navigation between pages crashing the app I am implementing a navigation between pages using NavigationController. Feasibility and reproducibility of neutrophil parameters by flow cytometry in peripheral blood obtained by venepuncture and finger prick. The absolute count of neutrophil and the differential count of neutrophils, monocytes, lymphocytes, and eosinophils were measured by flow cytometry in venous blood and in capillary blood (for the verification) on the same day in 20 healthy individuals. Neutrophils were identified by a fluorescence-activated flow cytometer using a combination of antibodies directed against specific cell surface antigens. Red blood cells were lysed by a simple procedure involving staining with the red cell selective dye, ethidium bromide, and 2- and 4-color data analysis was used for quantifying monocytes and lymphocytes by the SSC and CD45-FITC and CD19-FITC, respectively. The results show that a mean \pm SD (median) of 5.24 ± 0.59 ($4.3 \times 10^6/\text{mm}^3$) neutrophils and 1.00 ± 0.37 ($0.9 \times 10^6/\text{mm}^3$) monocytes can be obtained by venepuncture, and that this permits a reproducible differential count of neutrophils, monocytes, and lymphocytes. The recovery of neutrophils by the finger prick technique was $83 \pm 19\%$ with a mean neutrophil count of $3.72 \pm 0.76 \times 10^6/\text{mm}^3$. The recovery of neutrophils, monocytes, and lymphocytes using the finger prick technique was, respectively, $94 \pm 11\%$, $91 \pm 6\%$, and $92 \pm 7\%$. The recovery of absolute neutrophil counts was $71 \pm 30\%$ and of the relative differential count of neutrophils, monocytes, and lymphocytes was $82 \pm 13\%$, $82 \pm 11\%$, and $85 \pm 10\%$. In conclusion, the recovery of leukocyte counts in capillary blood obtained by finger prick was similar to that obtained from venous blood, and neutrophil counts in capillary blood are quite reproducible.
