A new grand campaign representing the first major German invasion of the Eastern front. Follow the war across some of the most iconic battles of the Second World War such as:

- The Seize of Sevastopol
- The Battle of Stalingrad
- The Battle of Kharkov
- The Battle of the Caucasus
- The Battle of Kursk

The campaign takes place from the German Point of View (by default) meaning the whole campaign is a simultaneous turn-based game across all the axis: Infantry, Armor and Airforce. At the beginning of the campaign players are able to send up to 2 airpower groups with fighter, bomber and attack aircraft on a one-way mission to destroy the enemy airforce. All land and sea combat takes place on a hex grid where units must advance and retreat. Air units can move for up to 3 hexes but must always have a clear LOS and for ground units the hexes are not refilled. Each scenario has a unique set of rules controlling the number and quality of reinforcements, the enemy's morale, special rules for Hero Tanks and Chain of Command rules that allows commanders to control their units independently at the cost of their leader's critical point. The end of the campaign will see a power of the weapon launch new army groups and units. Author: 3030 Description: Manfred G. von Thadden, Oberst der Reserve. Manfred Geiger, Oberst der Reserve. Klaus Schlittermann, Oberst der Reserve. Further information will be available in the near future. COH: Information Contacts By buying this product you can collect up to 5 additional loyalty points. Your account will contain 5 loyalty points already. Resignation of General Morris. [Letter.] To the Honorable the Committee of Management. Washington, February 20, 1794. The undersigned has the honor to tender his resignation of the office of General. It is true that my usefulness is at an end, the time of its duration is uncertain, and I can do nothing now to hasten the termination of its existence, but it will terminate with it. I cannot, however, go away without expressing a full approbation of the course of the patriots of this place. I have seen how they have acted, what they have suffered, and how they have borne it, and I rejoice to be convinced that all will be well for this nation
