

FIFA 22 features an all-new Career Mode, which allows you to create your own player from scratch, all the way through to national team captain and superstar. You can now access your own unique career by writing your own story in-game and creating unique challenges. You can then take that career through multiple experiences, including managerial and player-coach roles. Plus, that's not all - you can create your own show pitch, access custom training sessions, and create your own stadium. Play For Glory, a brand new mode added to Ultimate Team, will enable you to play the entire career of a top European or North American player. It's a fast-paced, high-intensity match featuring one-touch gameplay, where you can create and destroy your own team in a single day! Meanwhile, the new 360° Player Angle improves the player experience for a more cinematic, realistic and accessible-feeling experience. This new angle also enables EA SPORTS Control - an all-new "level 2" control system that optimizes the feel and control of your player in all game situations. Plus, each skill has been given new animations, and the ability to customise personal preferences allows you to fine-tune your gameplay. The traditional diagnostic methods for pancreatic cancer, imaging, and tissue biopsy, are often invasive and are clinically not feasible for routine diagnostic application. Therefore, current diagnostic methods often fail to detect pancreatic cancer until the disease has progressed. It is urgent to develop a non-invasive method to detect pancreatic cancer at an early stage. The working hypothesis of this proposal is that malignant pancreatic cells secrete specific miRNAs in the blood and can be used to detect pancreatic cancer. Recent discovery of circulating miRNAs has revealed a novel role for these small noncoding RNAs in cancer development and progression. Our preliminary studies have revealed that miR-34b and miR-34c are upregulated in the pancreatic cancer cell lines PANC-1
