The oral live attenuated vaccine RotaTeq protects against an average of 92% of severe diarrhea episodes caused by the four most prevalent types of rotavirus. This vaccine will be available for all US infants in May 2006. Its potential impact is expected to be greatest in developing countries. Cost and safety analyses suggest that RotaTeq will become the most-affordable rotavirus vaccine when it is introduced in developing countries.[Malignant fibrous histiocytoma: histopathologic, immunocytochemical and ultrastructural features]. Seven cases of malignant fibrous histiocytoma (MFH) were examined histologically and immunocytochemically, and one case of MFH was studied by electron microscopy. In addition, the tumor cells of one of seven MFH were partly examined by various orthogonal sections of ultrathin sections, using electron-microscopic techniques. Histologically, the neoplasm was composed of various cell morphologies and showed a variety of patterns in their growth. Immunocytochemically, the neoplasm uniformly showed intense immunoreactivity for vimentin, and immunoreactivity for alpha-1-antichymotrypsin, alpha-1-antitrypsin and alpha-1-antiproteinase was seen in some cases. In one case, fibrohistiocytic cells in which epithelial cells showed focal immunoreactivity for CEA were present. Electron microscopically, the tumor cells possessed abundant cytoplasm, irregularly shaped, indented nuclei, frequent blebbing and formed sheets of cells. Frequently, tumor cells contained numerous zymogen granules, but lack of secretion granules or surface microvilli was not seen. All patients had been followed for 3 years or more and one patient died of the tumor.[Treatment of extrapancreatic extension of periampullary adenocarcinoma]. A retrospective analysis

I look forward to reading them:). been a long time coming, but ESports are finally going global. The Boston Major is the first tournament to unite the world of esports, and it will be kicking off in just two weeks. The tournament is open to all, starting with a free open qualifier for the 64 most popular games on the market, to the $1.3 million professional player contest. On the top of the competitive list? Counter-Strike. With $500,000 at stake in the upper echelon of the Masters league, it's looking like the game is sure to bring some of the most talented and popular professional players to the tournament. For years CS:GO has had a reputation of being a game built on the grit, steely nerves, and absolute skill of top-tier shooter players. But the game has seen a wider audience in recent months, thanks to the explosive popularity of Dota 2. And with Valve's new foray into the competitive scene of CS:GO and the first $1.3 million event taking place less than three months from now, players and fans are amping up their excitement.
