series ended with the May 15, 1966, issue.
Whose Line Is It Anyway? (1998–Present) The

Whose Line Is It Anyway? television show is a comedy improvisational game show based on the Whose Line Is It Anyway? book, in which participants are given a topic and are asked to make fun of it. The goal of the game is to keep from coming in last, which also helps identify the winners. The show was created by Simon Rich, who also hosts the show. The most recent season of the show, featuring Ryan Stiles and Wayne Brady, began on May 5, 2018 on the Fox Broadcasting Company in the United States, where the show was moved from ABC. History The show was conceived in 1996 by Rich and Tim Harcourt, who initially approached Whoopi Goldberg about appearing on the show. Neither, however, wanted to commit themselves to the show before its start in 1998, when they needed a host for the show they created. They approached Drew Carey, who at the time hosted The Drew Carey Show. Carey accepted the offer as host and approached actor Jim Jefferies about playing a trivia host, and Jefferies accepted. The two began preparing for their audition, which proved successful, and a pilot episode was
