Subscribe for more great content : Over the years Sony has released a bewildering number of PlayStation Portable games which have turned into classics and if we were to pinpoint the biggest missteps in PlayStation Portable gaming, it's probably that the console's library was an absolute dumpster fire in the middle of its lifespan, giving us a load of shovelware and forgettable games at a time when our mobile phones could play some of the same stuff with the same quality. Not that Sony's failed to produce any good exclusive releases over the years, but they were pushed to the sideline as an unavoidable side effect of the way the PlayStation Portable was designed. The days of the gut-wrenching games are over. No more swimming through shallow and pointless games, or quitting games as soon as they get tough. What's new:

Video - MOVIE TRAILER So, last year I decided to step things up a bit for this Challenge. In the past I'd always chose a song that had a special meaning to me. At this Challenge I chose Bernie Tuminski, who's wise words really struck me that day. "You've just got to make your own luck." So, I decided I'd make it even more personal this year by making a 90-minute single film "in tribute" to Bernie, with his song "Don't Stand So Close To Me" in the background for 90 minutes. The result is a movie called "Chuck's Challenge 3D 2020" And here's the music video trailer: "Don't Stand So Close To Me (Session 92)" Since this is the 4th year of my "challenge", it seems only fitting that I should continue the tradition by making my 4th movie and the same song "Dont Stand So Close to Me" as the soundtrack. One year, I created a piano version, which I called "Chuck's Challenge Piano 2016". The year before that, I made a mix tape version, called "Chuck's Challenge 2015". So, what can I say? After the wonderful feedback from the audience of 4 years ago, when I posted the first Chuck's Challenge Piano 2016, I was eager to see what the audience thought of this new take on the Chuck challenge in 2020. The Talking Movies Critique You Asked For I hope this is my funniest movie yet! Many of you have asked for the song to be changed to another song that might have been more appropriate for this, so I'll just give you the song that's used: "Don't Stand So Close To Me (Session 92)" First Date With Chuck It's never too early to start the countdown, because I have a challenge for y'all! Step right up and be a part of this challenge (Warning: don't step over the velvet rope). I'll explain how to get involved. The rules are easy: 1938 or later. I would like to say that no special effects were used in this movie. (unless there was noise in the recording...) The length of the movie should be no less than 90 minutes, with applause-worthy ending Ok, but I'd also like to say that I was advised to do
