A team of Autonomous Weapons Platforms (AWPs) are tasked with the mission of finding the source of black goo attacking coastal cities. As the hivemind has ordered, a reconnaissance team sent to the ground is never to return home and must complete this deadly and enigmatic task. Dead Hand places you in control of one of these AWP's and lets you decide your fate along the way. You'll have to survive for as long as possible while maintaining control of your AWP, without killing yourself along the way. Realistic Physics: Dead Hand uses rigid body collision detection to help determine actual real world physics. The 3D environment and interactions behave in a realistic manner.

Modular Combat Vehicles: Each level is populated by one of four modular combat vehicles. Each one has it's own special abilities, visual appearance, and playstyle. Choose from:

- Heavy Tank: Perfect for clearing wide open spaces, but has an armor plate that can be penetrated. Has a huge health pool for very fast healing. Can be upgraded to a more powerful vehicle that can penetrate harder armor.
- Assault Bomber: This vehicle specializes in close up combat and can catch enemies in it's net using sticky bombs. Can be upgraded to have a more powerful engine and can carry more sticky bombs.
- Mechanised Chopper: This vehicle is more focused on health regeneration than it is on damage taking. It allows you to quickly heal back lost health using it's melee attack. It can be upgraded to possess a more powerful engine, additional armor and can carry more sticky bombs.
- Flamethrower: Similar to a tank's armor plate, this vehicle can be breached using a flamethrower. The health of this vehicle is tied to your AWP's fuel. If depleted your vehicle becomes a flying death ball, that can be disengaged by pressing a button to cause it to explode. The explosion is also fatal. You can upgrade the flamethrower to add additional fuel capacity, allowing it to be used more frequently. Shoveling can unearth new items that can be used to advance your vehicle's upgrades, as well as debris to try and repair your vehicle.

Procedural Level Generation: Dead Hand uses a procedurally generated cave map to create the environment you'll find yourself exploring. This allows for incredible replayability. You'll always have to start over from the beginning, however, you'll always have the same set of available items and your available upgrades won't vary for the same level.

Melancholy Republic is a romantic, story-driven adventure.

Similar to an interactive movie or drama, we use artful cinematography, script and sound to fully immerse the player into this dark and tragic tale. Created by Anthony Lu, a lifelong lover of JRPGs and other media, this is a concept he has wanted to do for a long time and with the increasing popularity of the new RPG genre it seemed like the right time for it. Key features:

- An original, deep, mature story with an emotionally resonant journey.
- Beautifully illustrated and diverse environments for the city of Lorna.
- A multi-layered artstyle, featuring both CG elements and hand-drawn lines, to help further immerse the player into the world of Claire, Marianne and Lorna.
- Playable solo or with a friend!
- One of the most enjoyable and polished soundtracks I have had the opportunity to create.

Melancholy Republic is in Early Access. Future content will include:

- 2 additional playable characters (played by me)
- Daily/weekly quests
- Unlockable side quests and collectables
- New artwork
- New music
- More polished gameplay
- More content overall.

The game is a lot of fun and I think you will enjoy it. If you love stories, mature content and have some time to spare in your busy days, you should definitely check out this game. Keep on reading and be sure to leave feedback on this page! Fantastic! I can't wait to get into this game! I don't care how immature these guys or girls are in real life, their acting skills are great. I'm in love with the soundtrack... It really brings this game to life. If you're a fan of the movie, I highly recommend this game. Kinda dumb Post some screenshots in here. We really wanna see some art and stuff! Also, maybe implement some Easter eggs or something? Not complaining, though.

What's new in Let's Learn Korean! Hangul:

The Museum of Symmetry is a science museum in Princeton, New Jersey. It is the third oldest science museum in the country, after The Exploratorium and the Museum of Science in Boston. The Museum of Symmetry, located at 36 University Avenue, was founded in 1993 by Ms. Diana Kawai, a former faculty member at Princeton University. The Museum of Symmetry is located in the (planned) Princeton Science Center between the Brown University and Princeton University campuses. Kawai, who had previously worked in the museums of Stanford University, the Exploratorium in San Francisco, and the Museum of Science and Industry in Chicago. Founded in 1993, the Museum of Symmetry's mission is "to inspire wonder and stimulate interest in mathematics and science through hands-on educational programs, live demonstrations, original presentations, movie projections and engaging special events." Before the development of the Museum of Symmetry's current museum building (2003-2008) on a one-acre lot adjacent to the former site of the University Middle School, the museum's programs were held in various locations throughout the town of Princeton including the Kann Opera House, the former University Gym, and the Institute for Advanced Study. The Museum of Symmetry is a registered nonprofit institution with the IRS, and a tax-exempt educational institution under IRS § 501(c)(3). Kawai has donated more than $50 million over the course of her career to the Museum of Symmetry. Museum of Symmetry collections include the following: Cradle That Moves sculpture installed in 1999 The Hug Machine - installation art piece/science demonstration in Cornell University's National Primate Research Center in 1983 The Vaclus Machine: A sculpture designed by Ross Singer and Ctenveoseria and installed in 2000 and made from recycled material A robot developed by Rutgers University's Cornell Engineering department was exhibited in 1993. A transtemporal projection technique. The Morphology of Time: a gallery installation installation in the main museum featuring some of the Museum of Symmetry's major collection pieces, including a kinetic steel sculpture by Marian Kondo Schiele, Bright Anatomy project by arts organizations Morphosis, and Stanley and Diana O. Meyer's Magic Sharper: An Hourglass, made after the box which formerly held their collection. The Theia Project is an art installation that uses a helium powered robotic arm to deliver a love swan to
