

A: The licence key for AutoCAD LT 2017 is the same as 2016, however it is case sensitive. How to validate the key: Goto Settings > Licence keys Select AutoCAD 2017 in the list of applications Select 'License key' Enter the licence key in the 'license key validation ID' field and 'validity range' field. You can use the '' value for the former. The next screen will show you if you are having this licence or not. Q: Do file-based DBs like VBAkeys play nice with Tableau Server? I have just installed Tableau Server 10.2 and I would like to use its ReportBuilder feature to create reports on a file-based database. Can someone show me how to setup the program to work with a 'database' stored in a VBAKeys.key file? I am trying to make my life more complicated than it has to be. A: When you open a connection to a tableau server, the connection method is object specific. For example, if you use a Microsoft.Jet.OLEDB.4.0 provider, Tableau server will be looking for a key file. Unless you're trying to connect to an MSAccess file or something, or you have other third-party provider's you're using (like MSODBC), you shouldn't have much of a problem using a VBAKey file. 1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a log joint retaining structure for use in a box girder or the like. 2. Description of the Prior Art Many large-size buildings are supported by box girders. In the event of earthquakes, the box girder is deformed due to an external force, and thereby, the log joints of the box girder are crushed, and large-size defects occur in the girders. Accordingly, the formation of a reinforced beam having a joint is disclosed in Japanese Patent laid-open Publication No. 4-135621. FIG. 8 and FIG. 9 show the reinforced beam disclosed in the Publication. Referring to FIG. 8 and FIG. 9, a reinforcing means 40 is formed on an upper surface of a joint 12, and a reinforcing means 34 is formed on a lower surface of the joint 12. A concrete cover 50 and an end plate 50 are adhered to the reinforcing 6d1f23a050
