Various Android APIs are designed to operate on the resource IDs instead of dealing with images, strings or binary blobs directly. For example, a sample Android app that contains a user interface layout (main.xml), an internationalization string table (strings.xml) and some icons (drawable-XXX/icon.png) would keep its resources in the "Resources" directory of the application: Resources/ drawable-hdpi/ icon.png drawable-ldpi/ icon.png drawable-mdpi/ icon.png layout/ main.xml values/ strings.xml In order to get the build system to recognize Android resources, set the build action to "AndroidResource". The native Android APIs do not operate directly with filenames, but instead operate on resource IDs. When you compile an Android application that uses resources,
